This Ferrari F355 Spider was delivered in February 1996 by Ms. Angela Ost at Tamsen in Bremen to its first owner, who was also from Bremen. The rare color combination - featuring a Giallo Modena yellow exterior with blue seats and a black dashboard - is particularly sought-after today. The soft top is black. From the initial inspection on April 30, 1996, through September 2023, Tamsen Ferrari workshop manager Ingo Laging oversaw the maintenance of this F355. Over the course of 27 years, the owner brought his Ferrari to Mr. Laging for service 22 times. In January 2026, the most recent service - including the timing belt - was performed by former Auto Becker mechanic Gunnar Schole at Stradale in Roermond. The sticky switches in the interior were refurbished.

Only 1,612 Ferrari F355 Spider manual transmission models were produced in total. In this vehicle's color combination, most likely only a handful. The service history is fully documented, allowing for a complete record of maintenance and mileage over the entire period. German first registration from the original owner, a complete service history, sought-after 6-speed manual transmission and the rare color combination make this Ferrari F355 a rare and highly desirable collector's car.
