The Lagonda M45 offered for sale here was first delivered to its original owner in the United Kingdom in 1934. It retained its original license plate, AEL 950, until 1996. A German collector purchased the M45 28 years ago. The original registration document from England is still available. This M45 was restored from 1996 to 1998 without regard to cost. Every screw was refurbished and everything was documented. There are several optimizations that make driving much more comfortable today. The vehicle has been in the same collector's hands since 1996. Regular maintenance by specialists reflects the sensational condition of the restoration. The original engine was extensively overhauled by specialists a few years ago and its performance was optimized at the same time. This Lagonda was driven frequently and regularly by the owner and is ready for its next outing.
