This Mercedes-Benz 190 SL Roadster was completed on March 10, 1956, at the factory in Stuttgart. It was delivered to Auto Henne in Munich. The car was delivered from the factory in strawberry red metallic (543) with a black hardtop. The interior was cream-colored and the soft top was beige. Eight years ago, the previous owner purchased the car in a completely restored condition. During the restoration, this 190 SL was repainted in black and fitted with a dark red leather interior. The soft top is now also dark red. In 2025, a completely overhauled 2.0-liter engine with an equally overhauled transmission was installed. This makes the car significantly more responsive and smoother to drive. Since the restoration, only 3,685 kilometers have been driven in good weather. The engine and transmission come with a one-year warranty.
